In northern Thailand, close to the border of Myanmar lies ten kilometres long mountain complex called Tham Luang. On July 2018 local football team called Wild Boars disappeared in the area soon after their daily practise. Soon it was obvious that the team has hone inside the mountain. Heavy rain had made it impossible to exit the cave and tea was trapped somewhere deep in the complex.

Tham Luan cave resue operation captured the attention of the whole world. Most of the people shared the opinion that the boys were unlike to survive.
